

TAKE A TRAIN, TRAM OR BUS TO ARTSTOP 21

Arts Access Victoria invites you to come along to The Olive Way at tram stop 21 for ARTSTOP 21 - where art happens!

28 April 2011: ARTSTOP 21 is an exciting new series of free community art workshops held at The Olive Way, Brunswick. Drawing from open discussions of ideas, creative processes and sculpture installation, artists are developing towards a body of work for The Fluid Ink Project exhibition in November.

Facilitated by artist Elyss McCleary, ARTSTOP 21 has been developed in partnership with Stewart Lodge Residential Services, The Olive Way and new partner Metlink.

The Olive Way, a community outreach facility, is an ideal venue for ARTSTOP 21 as a welcoming and focused place for people to make art and connect with their local community.

Metlink is proud to be working with Arts Access Victoria to support ARTSTOP 21. Metlink is committed to promoting the benefits of public transport and will be running public transport education sessions for participants throughout the ARTSTOP 21 program.

Often the best way to understand the public transport network is to experience it firsthand so in conjunction with the education sessions, Metlink is providing participants with public transport tickets to use throughout the program. This will give participants a chance to explore their local community and gain the self-confidence they need to use Melbourne's public transport network safely and independently.

Free Artist Talks will be held on 11 May and 8 June, 10am – 12pm at The Olive Way and is a great opportunity for new participants to learn more about the workshops, meet the artists, and explore the art! ALL WELCOME!
